THEN and NOW!

By Frances H. Paulette

Once upon a time there was a little girl who lived in a big white house on a hill on a farm way out in the country. She didn't have any brothers or sisters but she was blessed by having very special parents—they were more than parents, they were her friends.

Often she remembers all the good times they had, and some of the 'not-so-good' times too! When Father's Day rolls around, memories of her Daddy bring him very close even though he has been gone for a number of years.

Her Daddy was a farm boy, helping his Dad and brothers care for the farm, a sawmill and a country store. Then he went to Lynchburg and bought back to the Baptist Hospital the very special little white outfit she had been wanting and with it a doll she dreamedof but never expected to get. When she awoke from the effects of the anesthesia, there he was with the 'goodies'!

Any little girl could go on and on about her Daddy especially this little girl, except she isn't a little girl anymore. She is a mother three times and a grandmother three times, but she will never forget the wonderful influence of her Daddy. How do I know? I am that little girl grown old—hey, wait a minute, I didn't mean old, I meant old-er!!

This Father's Day I would like to pay tribute to my Father, the late Charles Courtney Harvey and to all fathers. They are so special! May God richly bless them, young and old alike. May they become more aware of the great responsibility they have to their children.

Fathers, what you teach your children by your example will linger in the hearts and minds of your children much longer than any words you have spoken.

Be very careful where you walk, Daddy—you have someone walking behind you! HAPPY FATHER'S DAY!!

When she was seven years of age, he bought her a piano; was she ever proud! Shortly after this she wanted a collie dog; he bought her that too and he loved that beautiful dog as much as the little girl. When "Flora", the collie chased a rabbit into a burning brush pile on the farm some years later (without the knowledge of the family, of course), it was Daddy, who after several days had passed, told the little girl that her beloved pet was in "animal heaven". She accepted that. After all, hadn't Daddy said so?

Over the years it was Daddy who was there whenever she needed him; always standing up for what he believed to be right, insisting that his daughter obey the rules and standards that he believed to be right for his family. Sometimes she considered him to be a bit too strict but as the years went by she realized that he loved her very much and knew what was best for her.

It was Daddy who taught her how to play checkers but beat her almost every time! He never let her win for the sake of winning, but believed that if she did win it would have to be because she was a better player than he was and not because he had allowed it.

When she had her tonsils removed at the age of six, it was Daddy who went downtown in Lynchburg and brought back to the Baptist Hospital the very special little white outfit she had been wanting and with it a doll she dreamedof but never expected to get. When she awoke from the effects of the anesthesia, there he was with the 'goodies'!
